BizReach

Q7 How should we consider the impact of the economic uncertainty to the business?

As reported in the media, some companies including global tech companies that have stopped or slowed down hiring, and some SaaS companies that were aggressively hiring in recent years are experiencing a rebound and becoming more selective in their hiring efforts. Despite these conditions, many Japanese companies continue to have strong professional hiring needs. As a result, the number of job openings on BizReach continues to increase, and the number of new direct employers signing up for BizReach is growing.

Although it is unclear as to how much and for how long the uncertain economic situation will affect recruitment, we expect the market to continue to grow structurally, and direct employers to continue to actively pursue mid-career hiring. As such, we forecast BizReach to grow 30.3% YoY for FY2023/7. (Unchanged from previous disclosure)

We continue to be unable to provide a medium-term growth target for BizReach as economic outlook remains uncertain and it is difficult to predict the market environment at a steady state.

^{*2} Effect of changes in Deferred Tax Assets and Deferred Tax Liabilities

However, with more than 10,400 active direct employers, we believe that there is still significant room for growth with further progress in job mobility.

Q8 What is your cost structure?

Our major costs consist of marketing expenses and personnel expenses. As BizReach is still in its growth stage, we will continue to invest in hiring and expanding our sales organization through internal moves, and conduct marketing activities including online, offline ads, and TV commercials whilst carefully monitoring net sales trend.

Q9 What is the future vision of BizReach?

We believe importance of direct recruiting (direct sourcing) will increase as war for talent intensifies and liquidity in the labor market accelerates, driven by factors such as mismatch of corporation and worker life spans, shift to performance-based workstyle with clear job descriptions, and the social dynamic changes caused by the pandemic. We will encourage increased use of our platforms based on further growth in the professional hiring market, increase in our market share through further acquisition of job seekers and direct employers, reactivation of existing job seekers and investments in matching capabilities.

HRMOS

Q10 What is the product lineup of HRMOS?

- *2 HRMOS Attendance Management is currently in a PMI process following the acquisition of IEYASU, Inc. on November 1, 2021. Over 40,000 companies (cumulative) including SMEs and startups are using the service.
- *3 HRMOS Expense Management was rebranded in November 2022 after the acquisition of ezSoft Co.,Ltd. on March 1, 2022. The service is used by companies in different industries and different company sizes.

Q11 How should we consider the impact of the economic uncertainty to the business?

Although the Churn rate increased temporarily due to the impact of COVID-19, it is now consistently below the pre-COVID-19 level of 1%. New customer acquisitions of HRMOS ATS are also progressing as planned, and we believe that the impact of the uncertain economic situation on HRMOS is limited.
